

and at Chautauqua, N. Y., in 1890. At Asbury Park, N. J., in 1902, the four hitherto partially distinct Conferences were merged in one General Conference in which the Young Friends' Associations were also represented.

For a fuller history of Friends' Conferences see the introduction to the proceedings of the Conference held at Chautauqua, from which the above is gleaned.

These gatherings are separate from the organisations of the seven Yearly Meetings, to which they bear the same kind of relation as the English Summer Schools bear to London Yearly Meeting.

At the Meetings for Worship at the Yearly Meeting at Race Street, Philadelphia, three large houses are filled to overflowing and the number must be something like those given above.
