George Fox to Justice Fleming, 1663.

An ancient, tattered manuscript, belonging to Anthony W. Wilson, of Hull, containing a copy of Fox's letter to Fleming from Lancaster Castle in 1663, has recently been on loan at Devonshire House.

The principal portion of this letter has been printed in The Journal of George Fox.¹ The MS. is signed L. M., and there is the following "postscript" :—

And also W^m Grave to whom thou hast p̄tented much love and friendship and whom thou hast cast into prison ; and what thou would do for him ; who came hither to y^e service of y^e Countrey and when he came hither his service would not be taken upon w^{ch} the oath was tendred to him as a snare and such was kept in prison untill y^e sessions. my good fre

[Here follow three lines of cypher, of the same kind as that found elsewhere in Quaker MSS.]

And when the oath was tendred to him agⁿ then thou never open thy mouth as for his good though thou knew him to bee thy neighbour and the cause of his first Commitment and so in a tim of need thou manyfested thy love.

[Then follow ten lines of cypher.]

And so thou maist remember what thou saidst to his wife being a Justice both of Lancashire westm^rland and Cumberland, so now thou maist see what is thy word on his behalfe as knowing before hee could not swear.

This interesting old document is endorsed, in Fox's writing, as follows :—

jvstes flimen westmarland this filmon did presen one to death 1663 & finnen his wife died & one of her childern & shee laft 14 mouter les childern a sad ivdgment vpon an old percuter.
