G. LYON TURNER

It is not being educated in the form of truth ; it is not the profession of it, nor being called a Quaker ; it is not barely frequenting our religious meetings ; it is not even being of a moral conversation—that will do or be acceptable to the Lord, unless we also witness a possession and enjoyment of the Holy Truth, and the life and power of it, in our souls. —Life of Joseph Pike (d. 1729), 1837, p. 38.

We urge our men who are active and useful in business to consecrate to the work of the Church those talents which bring them prosperity in worldly affairs. While success in the service of Christ depends upon our personal union with Him and not upon organisation, the coming of the Kingdom lags while men give their best to their business interests.

From the Report of the Summary Committee of the International Conference of Men Friends, Richmond, Ind., 1915.

“The Schoolmaster is abroad ! and I trust more to him, armed with his primer, than I do to the soldier in full military array, for upholding and extending the liberties of his country.”—LORD BROUGHAM, 1828.
