Attending Meetings under Difficulties

“ It has been very interesting to me to find how many and great difficulties Friends of Muncy have surmounted in endeavouring to attend their meetings constantly. J. Hogeland and his wife walked the whole distance from their house in Elklands, over the mountains, to the Monthly Meeting at Muncy, a distance by the short cut which they took, of about twenty-five miles. Ellen Macarty for some years had to walk to meeting every meeting-day a distance of five miles, and over very bad roads. She often had to carry a child in her arms and wade through deep snow the whole distance. And she to'd me that three successive meeting-days she had met with a bear in the woods.”—Memoirs of William Hodgson (1804-1878), Phila., 1888.
